

Gomez's hair mistake

Los Angeles

Singer Selena Gomez says her biggest hair mistake was learning to use straightening tongs when she was in the sixth grade.

"My biggest hair mistake is when I was younger and I was figuring out how to use a flat-iron.

"I used to think that just because visually I could see that this hair was straight that the back didn't necessarily have to be straight, so for the entire 6th grade I only straightened the front of my hair. That wasn't really my proudest moment."

Gomez also says her favourite hair accessory is a "scrunchie", which she likes to wear with a few strands of hair left untied.

"My favourite hair accessory is a scrunchie. I know it's kind of old school but it's really cute when you put your hair up and you let a few pieces come down. It's nice," she said.

Kelly refuses to send kids back from US

Washington

Kelly Rutherford has straight out refused to send her kids back to Monaco, taking her custody battle into her own hands.

In a statement, the Gossip Girl star said that she had been waiting for her kids, who were forced to leave the US in 2012 when they were aged just two and five, for the past three years to come home, and it had been hard.

She continued that while a California judge had granted her sole custody in May for which she was immensely grateful, since after that the court proceedings have been confusing.

Kylie showers kids with gifts

Los Angeles

Reality TV star Kylie Jenner, who will turn 18 on August 10, handed out gifts to children undergoing renal dialysis at Children's Hospital here as part of her birthday celebrations.

"Let the birthday celebrations begin! First stop: @childrensla," Kylie captioned a photograph of her with a trolley full of goody bags.

As per reports, the packages contain headphones, blankets, kidney-friendly candies, and socks from her brother Rob Kardashian's fashion line. She also helped the children with arts and crafts, joined them to make friendship bracelets, and then gave them a disposable camera each to capture the fun.

Kylie got a Birkin bag and shared an image of it on Instagram. "And it's not even my birthday yet," she said.

The family gathered in Los Angeles to celebrate her birthday. Parents Kris Jenner and Caitlyn Jenner were seen reuniting and hugging each other outside Nobu Restaurant in Malibu to kick off their daughter's celebration.

Franco to star in HBO's Deuce

Washington

American actor James Franco has been roped in to play the twins in American author David Simon's new HBO project Deuce, a porn drama about the rise of the New York sex industry in the 1970s and 80s.

According to Hollywood reporter, the Homicide: A Year on the Killing Streets author said in a recent interview that he and author George Pelecanos were not willing to take this project when they first heard the word "porn", but however the duo decided to take the project in order to explore the porn world.

The Deuce, will explore the rough and tumble world that existed in midtown Manhattan and the violence of the cocaine epidemic.
